Mississauga Personal Injury Lawyers: Because Your Accident Affects Others Too

Mississauga personal injury lawyers Singh Barristers regularly handle accident cases where people have been seriously injured. Such devastating events affect not just the injured person but often the entire family.

The physical trauma is merely one aspect. Since that happens to be the most obvious/immediate effect, it tends to overshadow other equally-serious consequences like the financial and emotional impact.

If you or a dear one has been injured in an accident that was caused by someone else's fault or negligence, your first priority should be to seek medical help and treatment. Following this, once the appropriate authorities have been informed, contact the nearest personal injury lawyer in Mississauga. You may be entitled to compensation.

Physical Effects

The injuries may be minor or major, but all injuries can have varying short and long term consequences. The age, general health and nutritional status of the victim play a huge role in how the body reacts to trauma. If the victim was elderly, was in poor health or pregnant at the time, the results can be extremely serious. Some injuries tend to aggravate pre-existing conditions, or they appear minor initially. Later there could be more serious effects that require complex, expensive treatment.

Based on the type and extent of injury, victims may become immobile, unable to work, enjoy the entertainment/recreational activities they previously did, have problems performing everyday tasks and may need the assistance of others. Injuries may limit the time you spend with family/children/spouse, render you unable to contribute to household maintenance, share chores etc.

Financial Effects

Spiraling medical expenses, home-maintenance, lost wages, loss of earning-capacity, dipping into savings, college funds, etc can considerably lower your standard of living. Families may be faced with debt, bankruptcy, loss of property/savings and bad credit rating.

Emotional Effects

Post-traumatic stress, anxiety/panic attacks, depression, sleep disturbances, fear/phobia of travel, guilt, loss of self-esteem etc are some of the destructive emotional effects that follow a serious injury. Substance abuse, mood-swings, relationship-breakdown are also common.

We can assist/advise and advocate for you and your family in such a situation. Our 24x7 injury lawyers ensure that your rights are protected throughout the compensation process.
